

COUNCIL DEBATES NIPON-CANADIANS AT LENGTHY MEET

Vet Conference And Constitution Also Discussed

At its regular weekly meeting last night the Students' Executive Council heard, a lengthy report from its committee on the Japanese-Canadian question and considered action to be taken on this matter. At time of going to press, 1 a.m. this morning, the Council was still in session, and the final decisions are expected to be available tomorrow.

Veterans' Conference Outlined
Other matters dealt with by the Council previous to the report and discussion of the Japanese-Canadian question included a report from President Starkey and Treasurer Lubell of the Students' Veterans Society. Starkey presented the plans of the Veterans Society and outlined arrangements for the coming Veterans Conference which is scheduled to take place here concurrently with the N.F.C.U.S. conference.

Delegates from 23 universities have signified their willingness to come to the conference at which all problems facing university students who have been in the armed forces will be heard.

Following a discussion during which members of the Council asked the guests various questions on proposed expenditures of their organization, the necessary funds required by them were made available through a Council motion.

Favor 'Choral Society's Plans
Don Koch, Choral Society president, was called to the Council meeting last night, and outlined that organization's plans for the coming term, asking for permission to retain Mr. Mitchell as a salaried director. Following some discussion the Council went on record as favoring Koch's proposed plan.

CONSTITUTION
Final Council approval was also given to the amendments to the Student's Society constitution which had been prepared during two special meetings. These amendments will be presented to a joint committee of the Council and the Senate prior to Senate and Students' Society approval.

A letter was also read from M. J. Caldwell, leader of the CCF party, in answer to a Council request for information on the Japanese Canadian question. Mr. Caldwell said that the CCF party was against the deportation plan forwarded by the government and would oppose any such action.

The Daily
Council approval was also given to a request from The Daily board to send an additional representative to the CUP conference in London, Ont., next week. Since The Daily is both President and Secretary of the CUP, the managing board felt that one delegate alone could not handle the entire business of the meetings involved in the conference.

Japanese Canadians
At 10 p.m. the Council's committee on the Japanese Canadian question was called upon to make a report. Mel Shiffman (Engineering) outlined the history of the events leading up to the government's decision to deport more than 10,000 Canadian citizens of Japanese origin. Quoting articles written by Prof. F. Laviolette, McGill professor of Sociology and information received from Prof. F. R. Scott, professor of Constitutional Law, Shiffman stated that although Bill 15 which empowers the Governor-General in Council to take certain steps towards revocation of citizenship and their deportation.

Professor at McGill in Charge Of Wartime Medical Research

By BETTY BREWER

When a McGill professor is given charge of all war medical research in Canada it is time that the University heard about it. Such a man is Dr. Colpitt, director of endocrinology, who, as chairman of the Associate Committee of Medical Research of the National Research Council since 1941, has been responsible for co-ordinating all war research in that line and keeping in touch with progress in the United States and Great Britain.

Dr. Colpitt was originally of the University of Toronto, and after obtaining his B.Sc. degree he joined the staff of the University of Alberta in the Department of Biochemistry, where he completed his medical course. In 1921 he was given a year's leave of absence to visit Europe.

But as fate would have it, he never made that visit, for in Toronto Dr. Banting and Dr. Best had just made the first steps in the discovery of insulin, and Dr. Colpitt was invited to stop in Toronto and help them continue their research. His job was to make insulin pure, and to devise methods of measurement, for it was not practical in its original state.

Dr. Colpitt and his associates, as

"With more than 15,000 ex-servicemen and women now registered in Canadian universities, and an estimated 15,000 more to come by September 1946, the universities are facing serious problems in providing adequate classroom accommodation and laboratory equipment," Mr. Mackenzie reported in his statement to the press.

Mock Parliament Gov't Is Liberal

Full Employment Bill Will Be Presented At Wednesday Session

On Wednesday evening, December 13, McGill's first Mock Parliament of this term will feature a bill on full employment to be presented by the Liberal Government. The C.C.F. will form the opposition, which will also include on its benches the Progressive Conservative and Labor Progressive Party groups.

The Mock Parliament, which is scheduled to start at 8 p.m. in the Union Ballroom, will have as its Prime Minister John Chipman, the president of the Liberal Club. The leaders of the Opposition will be John A. MacDonald and Cranford Pratt.

"There has been some misapprehension," stated a member of the executive, "as to whether members of the campus political clubs only were to be admitted to the session of the Mock Parliament. All students, however, are welcome to attend, and they are also invited to take part in the open discussion which will immediately follow the main event of the evening."

Prof. F. Laviolette Speaks on Japanese

At the I.R.C. meeting last night, Prof. Laviolette gave an analysis of the historical background of the Oriental problem in Canada and specifically in British Columbia; it was seen how the insidious virus of racial intolerance localized in that province due to the irritating pressure of Oriental minority groups, now threatens to spread and transform the national pattern. This attitude of racial discrimination and hatred, it was said, was inconsistent with Canadian mores and, for this reason, the revocation of the citizenship of the Canadian-Japanese assumes all the characteristics of a TEST case. It was shown that the attitude of British Columbia was rooted in the nature of the development of that province.

Music, magic, and merriment will be the keynote at Dawson College on Friday night, when a troupe of professional entertainers will descend upon the campus to present a variety show. The show is the first of its kind to be presented at Dawson and on the programme will be magic, juggling, musical, and imitating acts, to mention only a few—the artists all being top flight performers of stage and radio. A short performance, it will last only an hour from curtain to curtain. The day is Friday, the time 7 o'clock, the place the Rec Hall, and the admission—free.

Dangerous Escapades Recounted By European Students at McGill

By MINNIE GOLDSTEIN

"Most people in Europe speak either English, French, or both," The Daily learned in a survey of a cross-section of European students now at McGill. Hailing from such diverse points as Roumania, France, Poland, Italy, Spain, and Portugal, they admitted that they chose to come to Montreal because of its bilingual character.

Most of the students interviewed had had at least two years of English before they came to Canada. Only one could not speak English when she entered McGill and had considerable difficulty with her studies. Another student who spent several months in an internment camp took advantage of courses in English literature and composition given by British and American internmentees.

Only one of those questioned was emphatic about returning home. Most of those remaining in Canada were already Canadian citizens.

Several of the students had experienced some hair-raising escapades. One coed was trapped with her family in Biarritz, a fashionable French resort, when the Germans entered. The man who drove the car in which they fled bluffed his way through the German lines

A National Voice

Eight years ago this coming New Year's Day, the organization known as the Canadian University Press was founded when the Editors of twelve Canadian College newspapers met at Winnipeg to discuss the possibilities of a nationwide college news service which would have the effect of consolidating student opinion and abolishing sectionalism. For the first two years this organization was under the aegis of the NFCUS, from which it received financial grants.

With the outbreak of the war, students found their time for extra-curricular activities limited, and the interest in continuing the CUP service lagged considerably, abetted by the abandonment of the NFCUS for the war years. However, the service had proven itself, even in so short a time, to be too valuable an asset to the function of college newspapers to be given up, and as the war progressed the exchange of campus news through this service took on an increasingly important part of the publication of the larger campus newspapers.

Conferences were held every year during the Christmas holidays, and gradually the CUP wire-service, editorial exchanges, and mail service created an interest on the majority of the campi across Canada that could not be mistaken for anything but the initial accomplishment of the aims of CUP.

Two years ago, the establishment of the column "Canadian Campus", which takes the form of an exchange of opinion from various colleges on topics of interest to all university students soon showed how closely the college students of our country lined up on national issues, and the conference of last year, held at McGill, saw the awakening of a renewed interest in CUP. It wanted only the cessation of the war to see the CUP realize many of the aims with which it had started out.

Now the war is over, and once again the members of the Canadian University Press service are meeting, this time in London, Ont. The problems which face CUP will be able to be dealt with on a more practical basis. Improved and revised methods of national CUP coverage on Canadian Campi, with more exchange of news, sports, and feature articles can now be contemplated. A mat service exchange can be worked out in more detail, enabling the college newspapers to present pictorial reports from other campi.

Further to this, by means of the CUP, the National Federation of Canadian University Students will be able to act throughout the year on a more consolidated basis, rather than merely by means of this body's annual meeting alone. Public opinion polls, and NFCUS news columns can be worked out to promote a nationwide viewpoint on matters directly concerning college students, and if necessary, a national stand can be taken on these matters.

Through the CUP, all Canadian students, and indeed the public in general, can become informed of student thought, and of student activity throughout the nation. As the oldest college daily in Canada, it has fallen to the lot of The Daily to take the lead in the establish-

The Revue gets underway

Last night the Union Ballroom was the scene of frantic activity, as the tryouts for the chorus of the Red and White Revue got under way. Ronald Gillespie, the Dance Director, could be seen drilling his charges in the elementary steps that are used in all basic routines, while co-eds were doing their utmost to follow.

Dressed in shorts, sweaters and blouses of every conceivable hue, the girls already show considerable promise. A routine has been worked out and, considering the number of rehearsals that have been held to date, it was surprisingly well presented. The coordination was creditable, and the enthusiasm and interest shown by those participating promises great things for the future. In fact Ronald Gillespie even went so far as to say that the Revue should have a very good line, and since the chorines are the backbone of every musical show, this is good news indeed.

However there are still the final auditions to be held tomorrow, and many girls who have filled out slips did not attend the rehearsal held last night. If McGill is to have a show that is a credit to the University, a bigger chorus line is needed, so every girl, who is interested in becoming an integral part of this important campus institution, should turn out tomorrow in the Union Ballroom.

Tomorrow is the last chance to get in the Revue, and valuable experience may be gained in attending these rehearsals, for later on, when serious training gets under way, a professional dance instructor is to train the girls in the routines to be used in the show.

Meanwhile let us all do our utmost to make this Revue the most successful ever, for the Directors intend to produce a show at least as good as any road musical ever to play Montreal. Indeed, if last night was any indication, they are most certainly going to succeed.

Time and Tide

The Arts at McGill

Poetry expresses thoughts and feelings, emotions, things that one cannot and dare not express in prose flow out of the spirit in poetry. To understand the thoughts of men one turns to prose; to know feelings it is necessary to study their poetry. The greatness of man expresses itself in rhyme, and the hidden beauties of personality come to life only in verse.

Poetry glorifies the individual spirit of man, the personality. It is, in its essence, subjective. At times it can be misleading, for it shows up the individual rather than the average side of a period, of an age. Reading Byron one does not get a general picture of the average Victorian. Yet it is only by understanding individuals, many individuals, that one can get a true picture of the age and period.

Few people have the gift of writing poetry. We, at McGill have been fortunate, to have had several poet-undergraduates, and various persons interested enough to collect their work and edit it. "The McGill Anthology of Poetry" will be on sale soon. It is the first time that such a volume has been published at McGill, or in Canada. We, as a university, will have the means of preserving the best poetry that has been written by our fellow students, while a part of the University.

Students are creating, writing and composing, more and more every day. The traditional literary magazine, has been replaced by a daily newspaper, printing literary as well as news stories. There is a yearly collection of prose and poetry "The Forge". The Chester McNaughton Prize is offered yearly for the best prose or poetry written within the year. The Daily has held a short story competition—the results will be announced soon—and offers a $5 prize for the best story for the Christmas Issue.

In addition students have the incentive to write plays, in the play writing courses, and for the student radio company, "The Radio Workshop". Opportunity to broadcast is limited, but with the McGill radio station—a project discussed in the columns of this newspaper not long ago—their plays will have an opportunity to be produced, and heard throughout half the city.

Arts and Crafts are encouraged at McGill, the students' work is exhibited and some of it has been bought—although that is not the aim of the Arts and Crafts Exhibition. Much creative work is done by the Modern Dance Club, which presents a concert of original compositions every year. The Faculty of Music has its composers, and the School of Architecture its designers. A popular song has been written by a student, and will be published soon.

There is creative artistic activity at McGill, but not enough. There could be more contributions to the contests, larger exhibitions, and more work done in every department. The important thing is, that these activities are begun and well under way. The initial step has been taken; developments will follow.

That is why the McGill Poetry Anthology is so important. It will give student poets encouragement and incentive; it will benefit the University as a whole. It will encourage every other branch of creative work at McGill.

ment of these new ideas; and in the past two years, as President of the CUP, much has been done on the part of The Daily staff to initiate new plans, and to increase the interest of the other colleges in CUP. This has been more essential inasmuch as the benefits of such a news exchange system as this are naturally greater because we do function as a daily newspaper. The same applies to The Varsity. However, the greater majority of CUP members are bi-weeklies and weeklies, and while the wire-service of news is not so vital to them, the other benefits of CUP, as outlined in the aims of CUP, are sufficient to warrant their support of this organization.

From the original body of twelve, the organization has grown to include fifteen full members, and two affiliate members. Thus, the CUP represents seventeen of the twenty-one Canadian Universities. In eight years it has progressed to a status where it can very nearly claim to be the voice of Canadian students, and indeed, its members represent about 85 per cent. of all college students. Here then is the potential organ for the expression of student opinion on a nation-wide scale. Here is the potential voice for NFCUS.

THANKS

The Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir: I would like to extend my sincere thanks to all those who nominated and voted for me in last Friday's elections for the Scarlet Key.

HERB SHAYNE, Comm.III

OH, MR. EDITOR!

The Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir: Although a report in today's Daily about a speech of Mr. J. F. Pouliot fails to mention where the speech was made, when it was made, why it was made, or for that matter, on what it was made, yet a bare possibility exists that there is a connection between this report and your leading Editorial, "This Is Not Neather-Back-wash." If this is so (surmise only, of course) why is it that most of the factual data is in the Editorial, and much of the editorial comment in the report?

Surely, if McGill's Liberal Club, by some triumph of organization, were able to have Mr. Pouliot address them yesterday in the Union on "Vested Interests," this fact (as I guess it to be) could be safely reported in the news columns of the Daily; and if McGill's Liberals were a trifle disappointed that they were addressed on the intellectual level usually reserved by Mr. Pouliot for Ottawa's Liberals, their opinion could be fittingly made the subject of an Editorial.

Yours truly,

J. C. WELDON.

Editor, The McGill Daily:

When a member of Parliament takes time out from his duties in Ottawa, to come down to Montreal and address the students of McGill University, I think that the least these students could do, is to accord this gentleman a little more courtesy than they did.

Judging by some of the questions that were asked of Mr. Pouliot, it almost seemed that some of the members of the student body went to hear him with the prime object of trying to trip him up.

The next day, just to add a crowning blow, The McGill Daily printed an editorial that was anything but good journalism. If this is what McGill has degenerated to, then may the Lord have mercy on this Royal Institution of LEARNING.

BRIAN O'LEARY.

The Editor, The McGill Daily.

Sir—It is with a feeling of deep regret that I embark upon a constructive criticism of the editorial, apparently written by a cub reporter, or perhaps an assistant editor, and entitled "This is not Neather-Back-wash." I would like to deal with the points raised therein in the order in which they were presented.

1. The title: Webster (I have not consulted the Oxford) gives no definition for the word "neather", "Neat" appears followed by "neatherd," which is taken a mean a "cowherd." I make no allegations at this point. Perhaps the person who had the misfortune to write this dirge meant "nether" which means "under," or "akin to." Or perhaps

IBSEN'S "GHOSTS"

The last performance of the Canadian Art Theatre's production of Ibsen's "Ghosts" will be tonight at Victoria Hall NOT last night as was stated in the review that appeared in yesterday's Daily. that because Mr. Pouliot spoke at a meeting of the club that he by any manner of means represented the Liberal Club's views or those of the government. I would suggest, sir, that your writer of last night look into his background, as it was quite obvious to nearly everyone else at the meeting that this stormy petrel was giving his own views as he done at all times during the past twenty-one year.

In conclusion, as a private member of the Liberal Club I would like to congratulate the Executive in securing Mr. Pouliot's services. Speeches to the other clubs have been of a progressively dull nature and it was high time that someone came in order to inject a little humour into the political life here. The editorial of yesterday was biased and unfair in that it only presented one side of the facts. That is all right for the "Gazette"

Senior Cagers Down Shipmates 22-19 in Close Tilt

Early Lead Held Despite Vets' Sustained Drive Throughout Last Half

Fine Performance of Davidson Sparks McGill Team to Victory

By DAVID CLIMAN

McGill's vaunted Red cagers defeated Harry Ship's Shipmates 22-19 last night in a thrilling encounter at the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium. The game wasn't decided until the last minute of play, when Manny Shachter coolly sank a free shot to put the game on ice.

George Davidson led the McGill hoopers putting nine points through the basket and setting up many fine plays. Greenburg and Roth also played strong two-way games.

Ronnie Blackburn led Snooker Ruvinsky's squad with five points and was a constant threat throughout the game, while Cliff MacLay's aggressive play drew the plaudits of the fine crowd of approximately 1,500.

McGill Scores Early

The Redmen quickly assumed command at the start of play and jumped into a five point lead in the first three minutes on baskets by Greenburg and Davidson plus Greenburg's free throw. Shipmates came back with three points, but Greenburg and Roth combined to give McGill a five point lead again.

Play then became very rough, and a succession of free throws followed, each team sinking two.

Davidson then scored the nicest basket of the evening on a break-away pass from Roth, dribbling down the floor and sidestepped a charging Shipmate defender before creating the corgage. Blackburn and Goodwin exchanged free shots after which Davidson scored again on a beautiful pivot shot, converting a pass from Goodwin.

Brick sank a long shot from near the centre of the floor and Hoyle put in a layup just as the buzzer sounded, ending the half with the score 17-8 in favor of McGill.

SECOND HALF

At the start of the second half, play became very slow due to both teams employing a shifting zone defence. Bulloch netted a beautiful long shot, only to see McGill lengthen their lead to 11 points on a one-hand shot by Davidson and a lay-up by Goodwin who actually reached up over the basket to dump the ball in.

With the score 21-10 against them, the Shipmates warmed up and sank nine points in a row. But with a minute to go Shachter's free shot put the game on ice. After that, for the final few seconds, the Redmen walked off with a deserved 22-19 victory.

Y.M.H.A. WINS

In the other game, Y.M.H.A., lacking Kermit Kitman and Joey Richman, retained first place in the M.B.L. by defeating Georgians 50-35 in a fast, rough tilt. Morein and Rozentsweig led the winners. McGill seniors practise tomorrow in preparation for their visit to Macdonald on Friday evening at 7 p.m. in a four-point contest. Intermediates play there on Saturday afternoon at three.

SIDELIGHTS

Snooker Ruvinsky, coach of the Shipmates, drew many guffaws from the crowd with his loud bellows every time his team drew a foul. Clock wasn't working last night and the game had to be timed by hand stop-watch, much to the discontent and inconvenience of the crowd. Another large gathering last night. The league is well on its way to a new attendance record. Redmen to elect this year's captain at their practice tomorrow at 5:15. Ronnie Bower was missing from the McGill line-up due to illness. His place was taken by Mickey Davine, up from the Intermediates. Seniors and Intermediates will have their photos taken at Monday's Practice.

Three Rivers Contest Slated For Friday; Team Practices Today

The McGill Senior Hockey Team is all ready for their first hockey game of the current season with the final arrangements for the team's visit to Three Rivers this weekend being completed yesterday. After a very strenuous practice held on Tuesday, the team for this first engagement was picked and will consist of seventeen players, who are as follows: The goalers are Gelineau and Curry, and on defence Coach Dave Campbell has Beck, Bridel, Broderick, Gosselin and Mingie.

The forwards are Sinclair, Pieron, Pittfield and Allen, all right wingers; Spiller, O'Connor and Tommy Hale at centre, ice with Costigan, George Hale and Porteous patrolling along the left side of the rink. Both the players and the coach worked hard at the last practice and, needless to say, were quite tired after a gruelling hour's session. Unfortunately, due to a conflict in time-tables of some of the members of the team, only eleven turned up for the practice. The next practice will be held today between 12:30 and 1:30 p.m. and the Dawson players should be present for this

Dawson 'B' Team Beats Baron Byng

St. Johns Boys Win By One Solitary Point In Thrilling Finish

Dawson's Intermediate B Basketball team racked up its first win of the season when they edged out the Senior A squad from Baron Byng High school at the Dawson gym last night, by a score of 24-23. The game was very close, as the score indicates, with Thomson, a new addition to the B squad and Lang chalking up 12 and 8 points respectively for Dawson. Gossack went well for the Byng boys, scoring 8 points, while Share though only scoring 3 points, played a fine game as floor general.

Referee Bob Sparkes called fouls fairly closely 9 against Dawson, and 5 against the St. Urbain squad. The game was more or less a battle between experience showed by the St. Johns boys, and polish evident in the teamwork of the Montrealers. This point is demonstrated by the fact that Dawson missed all of their 5 foul shots, while Byng sank 6 of their 10. This might be due to the fact that "Tig" Chaloner's boys are very short on practice, not having had the entire team out for a scrimmage due to exams, for about 10 days. The close in shots for Dawson failed to click, for the most part, though Fraser connected for 2 baskets from under the netting. The fine eye of Lang on the long

Boxing Classes Meeting Regularly Twice Each Week

Group Plans Bouts Against Outside Clubs To Gain Experience

Every Tuesday and Thursday at five-fifteen the Boxing Club holds its practices in the BWF room of the Currie Gym under the watchful eye of Coach Irving Phillips. Led by the manager, Milton Orr, the boys go all out for approximately an hour while the coach instructs the boys and corrects their mistakes. Although there are many turning out in the light—and welterweight classes, there is a notable absence of heavier men for the team.

The Interfaculty tournament is to be held just before the Athletics Festival in the beginning of February, and on the evening of that gala affair the finalists will pair off. The winners of the Interfaculty event will make up the Intercollegiate team which travels to London for the big competition of the year when they will meet representatives from Western, Varsity and Queens.

To give the boys plenty of experience Coach Phillips is considering several competitions against outside clubs and intends to enter a number of the club's members for the Golden Gloves, which starts in April, some three weeks before the final exams. So far this season Milton Orr, a classy welterweight has shown up as one of the most outstanding boxers in the club, while Dave Common is making a reputation for himself as a very hard-hitting light-heavyweight. Jimmy Darragh has been turning out periodically, and with a little more training should prove to be even more successful than he was last year when he won the Interfaculty heavyweight championship.

Dawson Defeats U. de M. 28-19 To Lead League

Kaszas and Duford Top St. Johns Scorers While Rochon Shines

Behind the partition at the east end of the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gym, Dawson College's fighting squad last night trimmed the University of Montreal by a score of 28 to 19, thus taking over undisputed possession of first place in the college section of the Intermediate loop.

The play was closer than the score indicates but superior shooting on the part of the red clad Dawsonites turned the tide in their favour.

For the first 20 minutes the Flying Frenchmen from across the mountain were well in the game and held the battling Dawsonites to fifteen points, racking up the same number themselves. In the second half, however, they were completely impotent against the Redmen's iron-clad zone defence, being only able to count two field goals against thirteen points scored by the St. John's squad.

The closing stanza was all Frank Kaszas and Bob Duford, both excellent prospects for next year's big Red team. This duo between them scoring ten of their team's thirteen points. The other three were counted by Watson, who got two, and Summers.

Frank Kaszas, top scorer of the night, with twelve points, was outstanding, while running mate Bob Duford was not far behind. Rochon was top man for the Melville coached quintet, scoring seven markers and also playing a strong defensive game. Beland and Houle also played well for the French squad.

The game was also marked by the strong defensive play of both teams, who repeatedly snared their opponents rebounds off their own back-board, thus averting almost sure scores.

Dawson Floor Hockey Loop In Full Swing

Drummond, Brough And Masiarczyk Lead in Scoring

Eight more games in the preliminary rounds of the Dawson Floor Hockey League playoffs were played Monday and Tuesday nights. Rugged, close-checking play was the order of Monday night's action and as a result of the cagey play all the tilts were very close.

The first game saw the Tengineers trailing the Aces by two goals scored by Lyle and Brockie early in the game, but reinforcements in the person of "Bumping Buzz" Lawton arrived and his vigorous play slowed the Aces down enough for "Driller" Drummond to tally four times and run the Tengineers' unbeaten streak to 10 games. The P.H. Boys came through with another win as they trimmed the Bushers 4-2. The Bushers checked Doug Lee into the ground but his brother, "Hopping Herbert," took over and tallied twice in addition to scores by Honeyman and Bodker for the agile B.H.B.'s. Ross Miller and "Murph" Chamberlain were the goal scorers for the Bushers.

In a very rough game the Zombies went down to their second straight play-off defeat before the Speedballs 5-3. The "Brow" Brough led the Speedballs with 3 tallies while Wally Clark scored twice for the Zombies. In the final game Monday evening the Female Flashes edged out the Pinups 5-3 in overtime but the decision has been protested by the Pinups and the matter will be dealt with at the next meeting of the league executive. The protest arose from a goal which was scored by Robertson of the Flashes in the last 10 seconds of the final period to send the game into overtime. It is claimed that he was inside the crease.

In the opening game last night Aces edged out the Cyclones 3-2 as Lyall tallied twice and Bassett

Badminton Club Plans Tournament

Manager Announces Round Robin Contest And Other Activities

This Saturday night the Badminton Club will hold one of its Round Robin Tournaments in the Gym. An admission of twenty-five cents will be charged to cover the cost of birds, but each player is guaranteed at least three sets.

Last Monday night the club played its first series of games in the Murray Senior League and lost by nine games to seven to Stevens. It was announced that there is going to be a "B" League in the Murray set-up and McGill is to enter this competition too. The league will commence this week-end.

On Saturday afternoon all Murray League players are asked by the manager to turn out at 1:30 for a coaching session under Doug Grant.

Two ladder Tournaments are to be started immediately, one for the men and one for the women players. On the basis of the play shown in these contests the coach will choose the members of his Intercollegiate team. The Badminton Club is fortunate in having such a man as Doug Grant for their coach. When Jack Purcell recently resigned his World's Championship, it was after Grant had challenged him for the title, and so this year's coach of the club has succeeded to the title, which was held by Purcell for many years.

Atwater Squash Team Defeats McGill 4-1

Although beaten last night by the Atwater Club four matches to one, the McGill squash team put up a very good show against a team with vastly greater experience. Pete Landry won McGill's only match, beating Len Schlemm 2-0. Denis Stairs was beaten 2-1 by Frank Gibson, who has played on the Canadian Squash team for the past five or six years. Also defeated 2-1 were Allan Nowers and Andy Le-Meurier by Dinny Dinsmore and Malon respectively. Dave Culver played a good game but was beaten 2-0 by Atwater's Hank Johnson.

In four exhibition matches McGill's Art Bruneau beat Bobby Bell, ex-McGill hockey coach, 2-1, while Atwater won the remaining three matches. Stephen beat John McCormick 2-0, McEnlyre beat Bruce Becker 2-1 and O. K. Ross beat Colin Stairs 2-0. Afterwards a number of friendly singles and doubles matches were played.

NOTICES

Dawson: Science 1 is scheduled to play Science 2 in a sudden death softball play-off game tonight at 7:00. The winning team is slated to play Engineering "A" for the Dawson championship.

McGill: The game scheduled for this afternoon between Law and Engineering 4 will not be played, since the lawyers are having a banquet instead.

Commerce Teams Win Two Games In League Play

Arts, Med 3 Downed By First Year Boys; Med 1, 2A Victorious

Donned in their flashy new sweaters, two of the three Commerce Interfaculty Basketball teams came through with smashing victories, while the third squad went down to ignominious defeat in the games played off yesterday.

In the first tilt Commerce 1A downed Arts 35 to 13 in what might be termed a wideopen game. The Commerce boys made more out of their opportunities than did the less experienced Artsmen, who missed many fine opportunities of scoring. Needless to say, the score was no indication of the play, for Third Year Arts, slowed up by long hours of studying, was unable to sink the ball in the approved manner. Tommy Bridel was the high scorer, with 16 points.

Commerce 1B also won yesterday, defeating Medicine 3 by the score of 28 to 11. Sparked by lanky Don Wallace, the businessmen piled up an early lead and were never in trouble. Wallace netted eight of the Commerce points, with team-mate Bourbeau getting seven. Perks led the Meds, with some four points to his credit.

Davidon Outstanding In Snooker Tourney

By virtue of his smashing victory over fourth seeded Tommaro, George Davidson, speedy sparkplug of the Red cage machine, is being regarded as the player to beat in the McGill Snooker Tourney. Showing an uncanny ability to sink difficult shots into the side pockets and run up a large score in one spree, George had to come from behind to nip Tommaro, who was in top form, and thereby earn the right to meet Claude Brossard, dark horse entry, in the semi-finals. At the outset it seemed that Tommaro would upset the proverbial applecart, when he took a substantial lead. However, Davidson kept pecking away, although extremely unlucky in that he seemed to nullify his efforts by continually scratching at crucial moments. The contest then developed into a black ball game, whereupon Davidson pocketed the remaining ball on a beautiful shot only to see him scratch and forfeit the game. George rallied in the next two tilts with a vicious attack that didn't give his fellow engineer a chance to chalk up points, coming up with accurate and careful placement

By ANN N' SORRY

As the mercury drops to a mere nothing, and the mound of earth on the playing field hardens into the beginnings of a future glacier, the students of McGill are feverishly thinking of ways and means of conserving what little energy still remains in them from escaping as heat. Walking across the campus the other day, we beheld a fearful and grotesque apparition mincing towards us. Its coat was large and shaggy, with gray, brown and white stripes running vertically down it, while its paws (horresco referens!) were of immense circular proportions and covered with brilliant red fur. Glancing at its feet, we noticed a different type of fur, which strangely resembled horsehair, and hung shaggy over its preponderous limbs. The head of the creature was a tangled mass of flaming yellow wool, while from its face, although completely obscured, there issued a continuous volume of fiery smoke accompanied by periodic grunts emerging from its snout, we prepared to beat a hasty retreat, when the fur suddenly parted, a head emerged, and Sadie blithely asked us if we liked her new racoon coat.

What with reading so many English 2 books these days, and poking our noses into our notebooks in preparation for our mid terms, we turn with relief (don't forget that $2 you promised us, Charles) to reading the Daily. Before lectures, the entire room is filled with a waving mass of papers, completely obscuring the haggard and browbeaten faces underneath them. This looks, to all appearances, as if the Daily is positively overwhelmed with legions of satisfied readers, but unhappily, as we read the headlines on the pages, we are rudely awakened from our little idyll by the following heads, "Killed him Because she Loved him", "Rocket Richard Triumphs Again", "Daddy Manville Weds his Seventh"... Traitors!

A black plague is upon us again, disease lurks at every corner; bacillae fly merrily around the campus, flitting from one victim to the next, leaving behind them a trail of weak and helpless students. Yes, this weeks prize of one jar of frozen schmalz goes to the McGill student without a cold. Reclining in my cozy little seat in Moyse Hall for English last Tuesday, I heard a strange mixture of noises around me that sounded somewhat like the cries of animals in a high class barn. Looking around me in horror, I beheld a strange sight. To my left, a fair maiden with watering eyes, and flowing beet red nose, daintily plucked kleenex after kleenex from a mammoth size box cutched under one arm, while to my right a sweet looking creature calmly had a coughing fit, after which she rummaged hastily through her pockets, and emerged triumphant, with some prettily wrapped bonbons named "sucrats". These she popped into her mouth, and even had the nerve to offer the horrid things to unsuspecting neighbours. Alas! I too have not escaped the scourge; my voice is now so far gone, I speak in low husky monotonies that sound a little like Lauren Bacall's sexy syllables... Don't laugh, it could happen to you...

My worthy co-writer and sidekick is an admirable and very intelligent person to the casual observer, but hidden underneath this false exterior lies a heart as innocent and trustworthy as a child. Why only the other morning she timidly asked me if I minded very much skipping my next lecture, and would I please take her to see Santa Clause. Naturally I could not refuse her (curse her little heart) so I smiled understandingly, took her hand, and tenderly led her into the stifling, crowded, and intolerably stuffy atmosphere of the toy department in a large department store. I even did my heart good to see her little face light up at the sight of a happy little man demonstrating the magical art of blowing bubbles, and to hear her scream with delight at the sight of a little toy train whistling as it emerged from a tunnel. But honestly, Sorry! did you have to embrace me in front of so many people by breaking down and crying when you saw the sign on Santa's chair reading, "Back in five minutes?"...

"Ah Faustus, now hast thou but one bare hour to live." Well, maybe a few more than one, but mid terms are coming far, far too soon for our poor weak little brains. But we will be brave—we scorn the coward who writes a certain very popular column on the fourth page, and who has suddenly given it up because of impending exams. We must not give up the ship, the show must go on, and all that sort of rot after all we cannot disappoint our clamouring public... thank you mother...

has passed through three readings in the House of Commons, action should be taken by the Council to prevent implementation of the powers given to the government through the above Bill. Charles Wassermann (Daily) second member of the committee, then reported on other aspects of the question, and proposed a motion calling for action on the part of the student body in this direction. This motion was still under discussion at time of going to press.

practice, especially since they were not at the last one.

The players for the Three Rivers tilt will leave following a meal in the Union which will be served at 3.30 p.m. on Friday afternoon. Transportation will be by autobus unless the weather is such that this is impossible. In that event it will be necessary to travel by train, which would not be very satisfactory. (So, pray for good weather, youse guys.) If the team has to go by rail, they will come riding back on the Milkman's Express which leaves Three Rivers for Montreal at something like the appealing hour of 3.30 a.m.

Here are the important hours which all players should remember: Thursday, 12.30-1.30 p.m., Practice; Friday, 3.30 p.m., assemble at the Union for a meal before boarding the buses at 4.30 p.m. Any players who cannot be at the practice or at the Union tomorrow should contact Coach Dave Campbell or Frank Rogers, WI. 4254, immediately.

shots. He took both games with ease, thereby entering the semifinal along with Korman, Gunn and Brossard.

Yesterday Brossard and Davidon started their 3 out of 5 fust before a large gathering and came out with honours even, each winning one match. Both players were content to play it safe while waiting for the breaks. Davidon was in superb form at the outset but met his equal in the game Frenchman in the second tilt, who came off the floor to edge out his opponent. The matches will continue tomorrow with Korman and Gunn, seeded second and third respectively, due to set their sights to determine the other finalist.

once for the winners. "Jolting Gordie" Clough and "Jeep" Watson scored for the Cyclones. In the following tilt Sidus barely nudged the Speedballs 3-2 as "Hammerhead" Cameron came through with his second winning tally in as many games, late in the third period. "Sunny Jim" O'Connor and of Killoin and George led the Meds to victory, scoring nine and eight points respectively. Herb Lewis netted six for the scientists.

In the last tilt of the afternoon Med 2A downed Commerce 3 and 4 49 to 16. The elder Commerce men seemed to have trouble getting organized against the swift-moving doctors. O'Neil and Sharkey scored 17 and 16 points respectively, while Blitstein and Frack scored six each for the Commerce team.
